THE TRUE NORTH

Nowhere in Canada is the scenery more diversified than in that section of southern British Columbia, traversed by the Prince Rupert line of the Canadian National Railways, or along the inland sea which lies between the mainland and the off-shore islands of British Columbia. There is something new and beautiful to see the whole of the distance, whether it is between Vancouver and Prince Rupert or Prince Rupert and Jasper. Photograph (1) shows a typical bit of the Seaside Route as seen from the deck of an all-burned Canadian National Steamship. A look at the face of the fisherman and his catch as shown in No. 2 is sufficient evidence that in Stuart Lake, just north of Vanderhoof, the fishing is good. To the right of that (No. 3) a picture of a grave in the picturesque English Cemetery at Hazelton. The bottom picture (No. 4) shows one of the cabins at Douglas Lodge, on Stuart Lake, one of the most up-to-date summer resorts in British Columbia.

MILLING AND BAKING QUALITIES OF WHEAT

The following was given as a radio address by H. Newton, professor of field husbandry and plant biochemistry, University of Alberta:

In recent years there has been a growth of popular sentiment in favor of a system of wheat grading based on its milling and baking value. The grades we have at present are based almost wholly on the external appearance of the wheat kernels, and this does not always give a reliable indication of internal quality. In any discussion of this point, however, it is well to remember that the average price per bushel received by the Canadian wheat grower would probably not be materially changed by the introduction of a system of payment on a quality basis. If some growers got a little more, others would get a little less, the average price being fixed by the extent and movement of the world wheat crop, and by general economic conditions. This conclusion does not, of course, make it less important for us to maintain, or improve if possible, the quality of our wheat. In the long run we shall get paid for just what it is worth on the world market, and if we maintain its quality for the purpose of blending with the weaker wheats Canadian wheat will always have a special value produced in less favored localities. However, I do not propose to discuss the economic side of this question, but will confine myself to some observations on the subject of quality itself.

Let us first try to answer the question: What is quality in wheat? Milling quality we may define first as the ability of wheat to produce a high yield of flour of good color. Baking quality on the other hand is the ability of the flour to make large well shaped loaves, of good color and texture. These two properties are commonly considered jointly under the term "milling and baking quality," but they are really quite distinct. Milling is a mechanical process, so that only the physical properties of the grain come in question, whereas baking involves physical, chemical and physiological processes. Naturally an estimate of a sample of wheat based on the external appearance of the kernels is more likely to be correct in regard to the milling value than in regard to the baking value. Let us consider a few of the main factors affecting the milling value of a sample of wheat. The milling process consists essentially in the separation of the different portions of the wheat kernel. The outer covering, or bran, goes into the flour. If the flour is to have the pure white color which our fastidious modern taste demands, the separation must be made very completely, as a mixture of bran particles with the flour will of course darken it. The necessity for avoiding this adulteration is the first factor limiting the per cent of the wheat kernel which is finally recovered as flour.

Perhaps the most important factor governing flour yield is the plumpness of the kernel. The ratio of bran to middlings is more or less a direct function of plumpness. The weight per measured bushel is the most common estimate of plumpness, but we must remember that varietal differences in size and shape of kernel may have a great effect on the weight per bushel without a corresponding effect on the milling value. In comparing two samples of equal plumpness, it is generally safe to assume that the one with the more flinty kernels will give the higher flour yield. Not only does the increased density of the endosperm (i.e. the central portion of the kernel) reduce the proportion by weight of bran, but flinty endosperm mills into granular fragments which are easily and completely separated from the bran flakes. Soft endosperm, on the other hand, produces flaky particles which are more difficult to separate from the bran.

Abnormalities or soundness of various kinds may affect both yield and color of flour detrimentally. Immaturity, early frosting, rusting, or any form of damage which checks the development of the kernel and results in shrunken wheat will naturally reduce the percentage yield of flour. Some of these forms of injury will also affect the color of the flour. Immaturity, frost injury, and rusting may cause it to become dull or gray. Again, the content of natural pigment in certain wheat varieties is sufficient to give the flour a yellowish color. Millers have resorted to chemical bleaching to remove this, and satisfy the public demand for pure white flour. Baking quality, as stated previously, is by comparison with milling quality a much more complicated property. The difficulty of determining precisely wherein lie the differences between a wheat which produces a so-called strong flour and one which produces a weak flour has during the past ten years caused many a chemist to tear his hair. However, some at least of the main points have become fairly clear.

civilized countries come to mean almost exclusively wheat bread, is that the proteins of the wheat kernel possess special properties. You know what proteins are—the flesh-forming constituents of foods. Well, these wheat proteins possess the special property of causing the flour, on the admixture of water, to form an elastic dough. No other cereal flour does that. A lump of bread dough, on account of its elastic properties, can, by the installation of a suitable gas generator, be blown up from the inside to form a sort of pneumatic hockey puck, which on the subsequent application of heat, sets into the object which we call a loaf of bread.

The gas generator we make use of is a culture of yeast. The expanding force which causes bread dough to "rise" is the carbonic acid gas given off in the fermentation of sugar by the yeast. It is the same gas which causes soda water to "fizz." But the sugar naturally present in the flour is small in amount, and the main source of that used in the fermentation is the starch, of which there is always abundance. Before yeast can utilize starch, however, the starch must be converted into sugar by the action of a ferment known as diastase. The lack of sufficient diastase has been found to be a rather common fault of poor flours. Sprouted wheat is always very rich in diastase, and a small admixture of sprouted kernels in sound wheat is sometimes an advantage in improving the rising qualities of the resulting flour.

The amount by which it is possible to inflate a mass of bread dough, without having it fall out of shape or rupture into large holes, depends largely on the elasticity and coherence of the flour proteins, the gluten, as they are called. Since upon this depends the lightness, and to a large extent the palatability of the bread, the quality and quantity of the gluten are naturally of the first importance. In the United States the practice of paying a premium for high protein wheat has become quite general. The average protein content of Canadian wheat is considerably higher than that of United States wheat, and since it is high enough to satisfy the millers' requirements, there has not been in Canada the same competition to secure high protein lots. The English market, furthermore, has not yet adapted the system of buying on a protein content. There is little doubt, however, that the greater commercial value of high protein wheat will eventually secure general recognition on the export markets of the world.

The protein test takes account, of course, only of the quantity, not the quality of the gluten. However, though gluten quality varies widely in different varieties, it tends to be fairly constant in well-matured, sound samples of the same or of closely similar varieties. Thus the baking value of different samples of Marquis or Red Fife wheat (providing they are sound) tends to vary in the order of their protein content.

Naturally the milling and baking quality of new varieties has always been a prime concern of plant breeders. In earlier days only very simple means were available for estimating the quality of small samples. When Dr. Saunders was selecting Marquis wheat, for example, he was forced to rely on its physical appearance and on the chewing test. The latter consisted in chewing a number of kernels until the starch and bran were washed away by the saliva, then estimating the elasticity and coherence of the remaining pellet of gluten by stretching it between the fingers.

Garden

Time

Poets and philosophers tell of the satisfaction obtained from cultivation of flower and vegetable gardens, but the practice is not as general as could be wished. In many places there is much less gardening than there was some years ago. People have too many things they want to do with their spare time.

In many cities and towns, however, the garden movement has been pushed as a community project. People have been urged, in a systematic way, to decorate their grounds with handsome shrubbery and flowers, and some of these communities have developed an amazing amount of this beautification.

Such towns become noted, and every minute of time put in on these flower beds is no doubt paid for in the higher value of real estate that is established in such a community.

Home pride is the motive that can best be relied upon to promote the gardening movement. People will usually do what their neighbors do. If you persuade one or two influential families on a street to spend a little more time and money beautifying their place this season, the majority of their neighbors would, within a year or two, fall into line and do the same thing.

As respects vegetables, the advantage of the back yard garden ought to be obvious in these times of high prices. The children of the modern community do not have enough share in the home tasks, and it would do them good to have some regular labors in a garden and they could well do a great deal of its work. But the old folks cannot expect them thus to labor unless they are also willing to do some stunts with the spade and hoe.

Auto Is Not Now In The Luxury Class

The auto was once condemned by a religious sect as a worldly luxury. There have been many religious sects and denominations which have denied their converts every luxury and every pleasure not definitely spiritual. This one sect banned the automobile because it did not believe it to be a necessity of life.

This religious body made that mistake so often made by the individual and sometimes made by a generation or an age of mankind. That error lay in failing to see the value of luxury as the experiment station of necessity. The luxury of today is often the necessity of tomorrow. The patrons of luxury foster progress and by their patronage give to mankind that luxury when it has become a necessity.

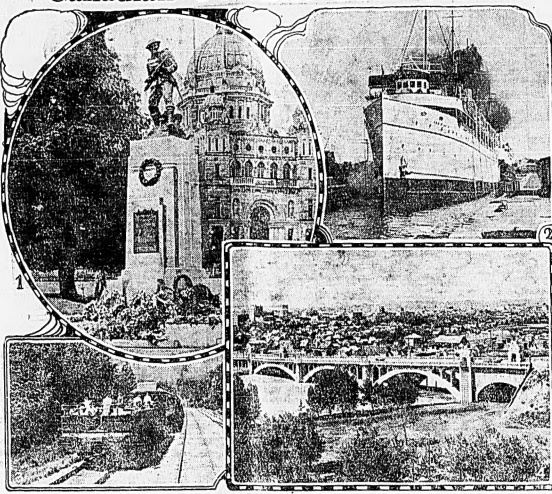

In its iniquity the automobile was a luxury. It did not become a necessity until it had been mechanically perfected, many years after it had been adopted by the wealthy as a luxury. The wealthy by adopting the automobile as a luxury made it financially possible for the engineers and inventors to perfect it for commercial purposes. The same was true of the electric light and many other civilized comforts.

In isolated communities with no luxuries, people lack imagination to develop, and continue their primitive discomforts. Luxury which represents desire to refine life contributes much; that which is ostentatious does not.

We Must Save Our Forests

It is significant that many Canadian bank presidents and financial leaders in their annual reports on the business of the year 1926 laid stress on two things: (1) the importance of our forest industries to our domestic and export trade and (2) the need for

Canadian Teachers Tour Canada

1. Parliament buildings, Victoria. 2. G.P.R. Great Lakes steamer looking through at Strait of Juan de Fuca. 3. Open air observation car. 4. View of the city of Calgary.

That a thorough personal knowledge of every section of the Dominion is a necessary part of the education of the Canadian teacher, is the opinion of a large party of teachers who will journey across Canada on the Canadian Pacific lines this summer, headed by Professor Sinclair Laird, Dean of the School for Teachers, Macdonald College.

Dean Laird's tours have become widely popular during the four years they have been conducted. In a statement issued by him in connection with the coming 21-day trip to the west, Dean Laird said: "With the 60th Anniversary of Confederation occurring in July, it seems very fitting that this event should be celebrated by as many Canadians as possible, visiting the country from east to west over the pioneer railway which has opened the west, and which itself was one of the public works undertaken to bring British Columbia into Confederation."

The Canadian Pacific Railway has opened to settlement vast stretches of territory which previously had been practically unknown, unvisited and untravelled. Canadians will find additional inspiration in travelling over our pioneer transcontinental railway and visiting the western provinces that have been people and have become prosperous as a result of this railway. The progress made in the last sixty years will be a great revelation.

This tour will begin from Toronto July 25, leaving at noon, the first day's journey being through the beautiful lake regions of Muskoka and on to Sudbury. From here the journey continues through the big game areas of northern Ontario to the north shore of the Great Lakes. The north shore of Lake Superior offers something unique in Canadian scenery, and the whole is so arranged that the journey through this rugged country is made during the day. After the great grain ports of Port William and Port Arthur have been reached the special train speeds west to Winnipeg, the grain marketing centre of the prairies. Nearly a full day of interest is spent at Winnipeg; prompt and vigorous action to ensure that this great resource be not destroyed by forest fires.

Our financial leaders stress the point that the forest is our second greatest natural resource in point of national income. And, on the administrative side, it has been shown that Canada has so handled her forest lands under a system of leases that over 90 per cent. are still owned by the Crown, that is by the people, and that from these forests the Dominion and Provincial Governments draw revenues totalling over $14,000,000 per year. That, in many respects, is a happy position, and many states and nations cast envious eyes upon Canada's good fortune and good administration. The point made by our financial leaders is not that Canadians are sinners exceedingly above all other people in wanting their forest heritage, but that with the experience of other nations to draw from, and with the great opportunities of the twentieth century before them, they are apparently in danger of allowing their forests to be reduced to the minimum by fire and waste, and cutting before they start to grow them up again. Planting forests is good, but a system of so cutting and protecting existing forests that they will bring forth increasing crops, is better.

There is only one safe thing to do when approaching a level crossing—

STOMACH TROUBLES ARE DUE TO ACIDITY

Tells of Pleasant Home Treatment to Bring Swift Relief

So-called Stomach Troubles—indigestion, dyspepsia, gas, sourness, etc., are, in probably nine cases out of ten, the evidence of "too much acid in the stomach," souring the food, causing the formation of gas and starting acid indigestion.

Gas distends the stomach and causes a full, oppressive burning feeling known as heartburn, while the acid irritates and inflames the delicate stomach lining. Get rid of Gas and Acidity, and you get rid of Indigestion.

To stop or prevent the sourness and gas, to neutralize the stomach acids and keep the stomach sweet and free from indigestion, a transparent or tablet of Liberated Magnesia should be taken in a little water after eating or whenever gas, sourness, pain or acidity is felt. This quickly sweetens the stomach, neutralizes its acidity, stops the pain and is harmless and inexpensive to use.

Liberated Magnesia, powder or tablets only, can be obtained from any drug store and its daily use keeps the stomach in fine condition, enabling it to do its work without the aid of artificial digestants.

and that is to stop your machine or horse and make sure that no train is approaching. If a train is going by, do not proceed until you satisfy yourself that no train is near. If your view of the track is hidden, get out of your machine or buggy and make sure! You can't argue with a railway train.

THE SPRING CLEAN-UP

Springtime is the time of new things, when the old and decadent give way to nature's new birth of foliage and plant life, and all the world puts on a new raiment.

Spring also is the clean-up season, when man's habitation should be made to harmonize with nature.

Where there is filth, there is nearly always disease. Disorder is accompanied by waste, danger and decay. Dirt and disorder are the greatest enemies to public decency, health and safety.

A single filthy home, dirty back yard, or a stagnant pond, may become easily the source of an epidemic of fatal diseases that will sweep a town or city. A trash pile may start a general conflagration.

Every thrifty housewife knows the need and the joy of household cleanliness. She has a general house-cleaning twice a year, when she changes her furnishings, but she keeps her home immaculate all the time. No semi-annual or annual bath for her home.

Every individual should be as proud of his town and his habitation and its environments as the most immaculate housekeeper is proud of her home.

CONQUERED PLAGUES

Observations of interest to medical men and their patients were made by a German archaeologist while he was making excavations on more than 30,000 Egyptian mummies. Through these mummies he learned what the Egyptians were, physically, from as early as 2000 B.C. to the last dynasties.

Some of his conclusions are that imperfect teeth were unknown to the pharaohs and other poor classes, that leprosy in its present form did not exist, and cancer, gout, tuberculosis and blood diseases were virtually unknown. Physical deformities were not uncommon and smallpox was prevalent.

These observations serve to demonstrate how dependent the physical man is upon his mode of living. Ancient man needed good teeth to cut the food given him and the fare of his day was such as to develop sturdy teeth. Teeth decay followed the departure from natural foods.

Modern man can envy the Egyptian for freedom from toothache, cancer and tuberculosis, without wishing to change places with him in the health scales. Many diseases of today were unknown to the Egyptians, but so were there in ancient Egypt malignant diseases unknown to this modern era.

Terrible and devastating as they are, cancer and tuberculosis have never been as deadly virulent as the plagues that wiped out whole cities in ancient times and swept back and forth across whole continents. Such plagues are virtually unknown today, and in this country, even dangerous epidemics are rare.

How to Play BRIDGE

A new series of lessons by
Wynne Ferguson
Author of "PRACTICAL AUCTION BRIDGE"

ARTICLE No. 22

The writer has frequently called attention in these articles to the modern tendency to bid a suit, rather than to trump, if the hand contains a singleton or void suit. The matter of distribution has become an important point in modern bidding as the cards themselves, and no good player bids no-trump on high cards only. In addition to the high cards, he must also have a favorable distribution. If he hasn't, he plays the suit bid to the no-trump. One type of hand that always works out better at a suit bid than no-trump is the one that contains three four-card suits and a singleton. The following is a good example:

Hearts — A, J, 8, 4
Clubs — A, K, 10, 7
Diamonds — 7
Spades — A, 8, 5, 4

With this hand as dealer, bid one club and if your partner bids one no-trump, bid two hearts. It is a perfect example of the type of hand that plays better at a suit bid than no-trump.

There is another type of hand where the suit bid is preferable to the no-trump. In the following hand:

Hearts — A, 7
Clubs — A, K, 9
Diamonds — 10, 8
Spades — Q, 10, 7, 6, 5, 4

the proper bid is one spade, not one no-trump. Here is another example:

Hearts — K, 10, 9, 8, 6, 4
Clubs — A, K, 5
Diamonds — none
Spades — A, J, 10, 7

The proper bid is one heart, not one no-trump. Avoid the latter bid if the hand contains a singleton or void suit. Here are two hands that illustrate another principle that should be thoroughly understood. Suppose your partner bid one spade, second hand passed and you held the following hand:

Hearts — A, K, 10, 7, 6
Clubs — 10, 7, 6, 5, 4, 3
Diamonds — 9, 8, 4, 3
Spades — A

Would you bid two hearts or pass? You should bid two hearts by all means. The singleton spade is a danger point, even though it is the ace. Never pass your partner's bid when you have a singleton of his suit, unless you have a worthless hand and no justifiable bid of your own.

The other hand is of a different type, but illustrates the same principle. Suppose your partner bids one heart, second hand passes, what is your proper bid with the following hand?

Hearts — 5, 4, 2
Clubs — J, 4
Diamonds — 10, 6, 2
Spades — A, K, 10, 7, 3

You should bid one spade. So many players bid four card suits nowadays that you should not lose a chance to bid the four card suit, even with three little cards of your partner's suit.

Such a holding is no real support for a four card suit. It is a mere three to an honor or four or more of your partner's suit you should pass. The modern theory of bidding is to give accurate information, whenever possible and these hands are good illustrations.

Answer to Problem No. 26
Hearts — Q, 8, 7, 4
Clubs — K, 5
Diamonds — K, 9, 7, 6, 4
Spades — Q, 3

Y :
A : B :
B : Z :

Hearts — A, 7
Clubs — J, 10, 9, 6, 4, 2
Diamonds — A, 10, 5
Spades — K, 10, 4

No score, first game. Z dealt and bid one club, a sound bid even if Z doesn't add top clubs. He has excellent outside strength to justify the bid. A and Y passed and Z bid one spade. Z bid two clubs and tall passed. A opened with seven of spades. Y played the trey, B the ace and Z the four. B then led back the spades. Y winning the trick with the queen. How should Z so plan the play that he can make game if the cards are divided a certain way? The only possible way for Y-Z to make game in this hand is to find the singleton queen of clubs and the queen, jack of diamonds alone in the hands of either opponent. If that is true, Z should lead the king of clubs at trick three. If this lead drops the singleton queen of clubs, Y-Z will only lose one club trick. Then if either A or B has the queen, jack of diamonds alone, Y-Z will not lose a diamond trick. In this way and in this way only, can Y-Z score game. It is an interesting hand because the cards were just as supposed and Z made game by playing as indicated.

TRAINS DO NOT ARGUE

The toll of the level crossing continues to move upward despite the policy of continual education as to its danger. In 1925 there were 268 crossing spills in Canada and 76 persons were killed. In 1926 the number of accidents was 300 and the death list totalled 129.

What can be done about this situation? The obvious answer of course is "Do away with the level crossings." This looks simple, but it isn't. The cost would run into many millions. The change will gradually be made, no doubt, but it can't be made in a hurry. Few persons poor living will see the day when all grade crossings are eliminated. They should, of course, but that is another story. In the meantime, we must keep on preaching the gospel of caution, endeavoring to act upon it at all times. Level crossing accidents are avoidable. Except in rare instances there is really no excuse for them. But they cannot be eliminated, or even reduced in number, unless every person will be really careful.

There is only one safe thing to do when approaching a level crossing—

GUM-DIPPING Builds Extra Miles

THE Firestone process of Gum-Dipping is one of the most important of the many Firestone contributions to more economical highway transportation.

By this process, every fiber of every cord is thoroughly saturated and insulated with rubber, minimizing friction and heat so destructive to tire life.

On the cars of hundreds of thousands of motorists, in the day-in and day-out service of the largest trucks, buses and taxi fleets, in the battle of tires on race tracks, Firestone Gum-Dipped Tires, because of their greater stamina, are delivering longer mileage with added safety and comfort.

The Firestone dealer in your locality sells and services these extra quality tires. Let him tell you of the trouble-free service that the Gum-Dipping process insures and how he can serve you better and save you money. See him to-day.

100 YEARS OLD AND HELPS IN HOUSEWORK

Lodge, April 26.—Mrs. Ann Steinko of the district yesterday celebrated her 100th birthday. She was born in Russia on April 25, 1827, and has resided in Alberta for a number of years. Mrs. Steinko is in good health and in full possession of all her faculties. She takes an interest in home matters and assists in the housework at her son's, Emil Steinko's, home.

SEVEN COUNTRIES AT BIG WHEAT POOL CONFERENCE

Seven countries will be represented at the international wheat pool conference to be held in Kansas City, Missouri, starting May 5. These will be Canada, United States, Russia, Argentina, Australia, India and Sweden. The big subject of discussion will be the feasibility of negotiating a pact under which the wheat growers of these countries will agree to regulate the flow of wheat into world consuming markets.

DID YOU EVER STOP TO THINK

E. K. Gaylord, publisher of the Oklahoma City Oklahoman and Times, says:

That the average American is lacking in any sense of punctuality. Whenever a meeting of any kind is called, whether it be a small committee meeting, a mass meeting, a lecture or an entertainment, at least one-third of the attendees struggle in any way from five minutes to three-quarters of an hour late.

Amos boasts of greater efficiency and more time-saving devices than any other nation but there are few other peoples who are so careless about saving other people's time by being late at meetings where their presence is required.

This tardiness extends to all social affairs. When the hostess gives a dinner it is most unheard of to have all the guests present at the appointed hour for dinner. Religious services are an exception and a considerable percentage of the audience arrives after the services have begun. There seems to be a greater punctuality at weddings and funerals than any other class of meetings, but I have seen people late at weddings and funerals, and in neither case was there any good reason except that tardiness has become habitual with most Americans.

I attended a convention which held sessions in London, England, for one week. There were nearly three thousand Americans in attendance. I found that the British were always on time and the meetings began on time. At all of the meetings many Americans were late.

First White Man's Music in Canada

CHARLES MARCHAND

HABITANT COTTAGE QUEBEC

JULIETTE GAULTIER

"The first white men to penetrate from the east into the middle west came as canoeists, under the leadership of such men as La Salle, E. J. and Father Hennepin. They traversed the great inland waterways, the St. Lawrence, the Ottawa, Lake Nipissing and the Great Lakes, singing as they went the songs of Old France. The songs of these French-Canadian voyageurs have been preserved and are a popular factor in the lives of the French Canadians in Quebec. Their popularity is fast spreading throughout the country and of late radio programs featuring these songs have been exceedingly well received.

That has begun to look bad, while you go about in one that looks worse. Your house shall become a pillar of dust by day and a pillar of stone by night. You will have no place to lay your head and no place to rest your eye. —Watson Herald and Times.

THE SUCKER LIST

I find I'm on the sucker list, as one whose wife is dark; the lot air-enchanted walt and walt that I'm an easy mark. I get their snatches by every mail some seven pounds or five, which tell me how to end the kale, a hundred bucks for five. Philanthropists in far Port Worth write to me every day, and all the treasures of the earth they'd gladly pass my way. It worries them, it breaks their hearts, to not my love estate; I might be hauling coin in carts, in baskets, bales and crates. I might be wearing precious stones, an ermine overcoat, where I am grinding flesh and bones to earn a paltry groat. Am I a dead-game sport, I ask, and trembling I survey the ko-pecks salted in a cask, where they can't get away. Here I the nerve to risk my roll, these hard-earned coins in bribe, and take a whiff in coal, or buy a soft-sap mine? I read the letters from Port Worth and plan—for man is frail—to take the rubles from their berth and send them off by mail. But when I think of how I wrought to earn the hoarded beans of how I pinched and planned and fought to save those pence, I say: "To keep them here, I want, is much the safest bet"; and though I'm on the sucker list they haven't got me yet!—Walt Mason.

THE MAN ON THE JOB

It's never the job or its wages That determines the worth of a man. It's the faith and the courage he uses In doing the best that he can. It's the vision that carries him onward, To success with a heart all athrob. For the man who is winning the hon-ours, Is the man who is making the job. For no one will carry him upward; He must climb to the top by himself. If he falters or strays from a purpose He is apt to be left on a shelf. Though the job may be humble and menial, Irksome, distasteful or home, There's always some chap who can use it For an upward stepping stone. And though the toil may be weary And rewards seem uncertain and slow Some Fortune is ready and waiting, For the chap, full of bustle and go. Who bends to the task in dead earnest, With a courage that to one can rob. For the job doesn't count in the struggle.

As much as the man on the job. So whether we toil for a living At a desk or a lathe or a loom, In the fields that are ripe for a harvest, Or deep in a mine's leaden gloom, And whether we draw down ten thousand, Or a paltry and mean forty bob, There's a job for the man who can make it: It's always the man—not the job.

A CALAMITY COMING

During the next few weeks millions of people in Canada are going to be driven from their happy homes and their homes devastated. Millions of men and little children will be forced to live on crusts and leftovers, and wander aimlessly in search of some familiar habitation. The curtains will be torn from the windows, the very rugs from the floors, for some of Canada are about to start annual house-cleaning. If you have any fish-tackle, brother, bury it in the back yard. If you have an old hat that fits, put it in a safety deposit, for the hour of destruction is at hand. Leave no money in your old clothes for verily your garment shall adorn some hobo, who tells not, neither does he spin, yet Solomon in all his glory was not arrayed like one of these. Yes, some stranger will soon be peering in that old suit of yours.

Drop in and let me look at your watch. I will give you an honest opinion whether it needs attention or not.

M. AMUNDSON

A musical sensation on a scale never before attempted in the city of Quebec will be held at the Chateau Frontenac, from May 20 to 22. The Festival, which will combine folk-songs and handicraft indigenous to the Province of Quebec, is unique in character, since it is the first time a folk-song festival has been staged anywhere in America in its natural setting with handicraft. The National Museum of Canada, in co-operation with the Canadian Pacific Railway, is organizing this festival on a very comprehensive scale.

Among the artists who will interpret the folk-songs are J. Campbell McInnes of Toronto, who has been principal soloist with the Philadelphia, Chicago and Cleveland Orchestras, and Charles MacFarland, well-known "champion" of the Ernest MacMillan, director of the Toronto Conservatory of Music; Dr. Healey Willson, Canadian composer, and Oscar O'Brien of Montreal, who have composed harmonizations of melodies and arrangements for strings, especially for the Festival.

Choral renderings by various composers of some of the native folk-songs will be given by the Chanteurs of Saint Dominique of Quebec, one of the most famous choirs in French Canada. The Basileia choir will sing a fully choral High Gregorian Mass on the morning of May 21. Outstanding among the women artists to take part are Madame Jeanne Dussau and Mademoiselle Juliette Gaultier de la Verendrye. Madame Dussau, who is an ardent lover of folk-song and an interpreter of the same in many languages, is a soprano of the Chicago Opera Association. Mlle. Gaultier de la Verendrye, a descendant of the explorer, Pierre Gaultier de la Verendrye, sang in the Boston Opera before devoting herself to the study of folk-song. She has learned the Eskimo language in order to sing Eskimo folk-songs, and is also familiar with many Indian dialects.

A large number of leading musicians, folk-song and handicraft enthusiasts from all parts of Canada and the United States will attend the festival, which is regarded as the musical sensation of the year.

GEO. F. AUXIER IS DEAD

Castor, April 29.—Castor was startled by news of the sudden death this morning of George Fields Auxier, who has been the leading lawyer here for some years in partnership with M. J. Brennan. Mr. Auxier arose about five o'clock this morning to attend court at Stettler, where he was to defend three clients in the horse and cattle cases in the district. He collapsed about 5:15 and died shortly afterwards.

FARMERS ON LAND

Last week, just before the blizzard, many of the farmers in this community were preparing to go on the land. The heavy fall of snow disappeared quickly, and quite a few of the farmers commenced work the first of this week. The start came sooner than was expected owing to the hot sun and drying winds of the past few days. The delay caused by the storm has set every farmer behind with his work and it will be necessary to rush ahead now that the land is ready for cultivation.

New Bodies New Colors New Refinements

AT NEW LOW PRICES

THE art and skill of Fisher craftsmen are strikingly exemplified in the long, low lines of the New and Finer Pontiac Six bodies, in their smart belted effects and in their luxurious comfort!

Rich Duco finish, in the latest and most appealing colors, adds to the striking beauty of the New and Finer Pontiac Six. New refinements such as sweeping, full-crown fenders, new, higher radiator, tilting beam headlights, place this car in a class far above that into which its phenomenally low price brings it.

And, back of all these evident improvements and advances stand the established Pontiac qualities of power, speed, stamina and economy—the qualities which won for Pontiac Six the most outstanding success ever accorded any new car during its first year.

Only by seeing the New and Finer Pontiac Six, by driving it and by learning its new, lower prices, can you realize how great a thing has General Motors done in the field of the low-price class.

Dimming Lights May Avoid An Accident

Road courtesy, as displayed in dimming lights at night on the approach of cars from the opposite direction, is a great factor in the prevention of accidents on the highways, according to the safety experts. A number of disasters have been traced to the blind use of headlights, which not only confuse but cause some drivers to lose their sense of direction to the extent that they plunge off the roadway.

On a rainy night, when the windshield is covered with drops aside from the small portion kept clean by the wiper, the danger of the dazzle is at its greatest. Each particle of water becomes an irregular reflector whose glitter casts an evil spell. Add to this the slippery roadway, which requires a "great deal" of attention from the driver.

Proper adjustment of headlights in these days of traffic congestion has become one of the essentials of safe operation in motoring. The light which is placed at an angle where it throws its beams on the roadway directly ahead serves a good purpose. The motor lamp which sprays light about like water from the nozzle of a hose is a nuisance and a violation of the motor regulation. This latter condition can be remedied in a few minutes by several twists of a screwdriver. Frequent tests of focus form an excellent rule in the safeguarding of traffic.

IODINE CURE FOR SLEEPING SICKNESS

Providence, R.I., April 23.—Discovery of a radically different treatment of the American form of sleeping sickness from any yet prescribed, and what may lead to a successful eradication of the disease, was announced by Dr. Frederick J. Parnell, of this city, its discoverer.

Introduction of a hyper-tonic solution of iodine directly into the blood stream is the basis of the new discovery, the treatment being applied without occurrence of any unpleasantness, thus upsetting a custom of pharmacopoeia which has held that introduction of iodine into the blood invariably meant death. The Parnell hypothesis is that the iodine, always demanding water in quantities, finds it in the water-logged condition of the brain, an accompaniment of sleeping sickness.

Cheese as a Food

"Why and How to Use Cheese," is the title of a pamphlet of the Dominion department of agriculture which contains a large number of recipes for tempting dishes which may be made with cheese as an ingredient. From the standpoint of the housekeeper one great advantage of cheese is that it can be served in its natural state without heating, cooking or other preparation. At the same time it is made easier to digest by combining it with other foods. When eaten with bread or other starchy foods, such as potatoes or macaroni, it forms a very satisfactory food combination and one easily digestible by most people. It may also be used in cooking in many different ways described in the pamphlet which may be obtained on application to the publications branch, department of agriculture, Ottawa.

GRADS DAZZLE DETROIT FANS IN CLEAN-CUT WIN

Detroit, April 27.—The Edmonton Grads, Olympic basketball champions, romped to an easy victory over the Detroit Cougars, 22 to 15, in a game played last night at the Detroit arena. The visitors displayed a s-o-l-l-a-r passing game that bewildered Detroit's best quintet and won the applause of a record crowd, who crammed the arena.

The exhibition dazled Detroit fans and clearly showed why the Grads were supreme in the court game. Fired out by their lengthy tour in the east, the visitors were slow in starting, but when Det Johnson's first counter opened the path for scoring, other baskets soon followed. The Nationals attacked fiercely and were leading at the first quarter, seven to five. At the start of the second period the Grads proceeded to get in some of their speedy combination work, and from then on they continually lead.

TENNIS COURTS ABOUT READY

The Tennis Club is busily engaged in re-surfacing the courts and in getting the grounds in shape for the season. With favorable weather the courts should be ready for play soon after the first of May. All those who intend joining the club this year are requested to turn in their names as soon as possible to the secretary, treasurer, C. J. Jacobs, so that schedules may be drawn up as soon as the courts are fit for use.

GOLF CLUB

A meeting of all those who intend to play golf for the ensuing season will be held in the Driard hotel, Wetaskiwin, on Monday, May 2nd, at 8 p.m. The arrangements of the Golf Club for the ensuing season will then be submitted and discussed, and committees appointed. A large attendance is desired.

GET AFTER GOPHERS EARLY IN THE DAY

Spring seeding may be held back by the weather, but the gopher crop promises to be even larger than usual this year. It is stated that the gophers are far more numerous this spring than ever before. It is probable that the first crop of young gophers are already on the way, and the parent gophers never stop at a single crop of young ones per year.

Indeed, the young gentleman gopher of this spring is a grand old fellow, several times over as next winter put a stop to his natural aptitude for perpetuating the race. There is no sultry pact among the gopher family.

One has to admit that gophers are cutting little devil but all their cute-ness does not atone for their depredations in the crops. Hence "transmit em!" give 'em the bun's rash; feed 'em poison until the landscape is littered with dead and gone gophers and every sandy knoll is a gopher cemetery.

Gopher poison in its various forms is cheap; for cheaper than a ruined crop. Go, get it today and end the careers of as many gophers as you can.—Observer.

OWNER IS RESPONSIBLE

Another case of the owner of an automobile having to pay $700 damages to two persons injured in his car when it met with an accident, is reported in western Ontario. The two "friends" had accepted the invitation by the car owner to a trip to a neighboring town. An accident occurred and the two guests suffered injury. They brought suit for damages against the owner, and were awarded $700 by the court. Had the friends asked to be taken on the trip it would have been different. But they were guests and as such entitled to the protection and safe transit by their host. Law is a queer thing. So is human nature, says the Orillia Packet.

Agricultural Conditions Throughout The West Are Highly Satisfactory

Winnipeg, April 26. A general survey of agricultural conditions throughout the West made by the agricultural department of the Canadian Pacific Railway shows that conditions are satisfactory, though the spring is somewhat belated. The saturated condition of the soil and the cold changeable weather of the past two weeks have delayed commencement of work and possibly the possibility of farmers getting an early start. With the exception of a small amount of plowing and discing in southern portions of the prairie provinces, no work on the land has begun. In isolated districts in southwest Alberta some seedling has been done, but it is scarcely fifty feet under the most favorable weather conditions that seedling can become general in the west before the end of April or the beginning of May. In higher lands, having good drainage seedling should commence early next week.

In 1923 seedling was general in Manitoba on May 6, in Saskatchewan on May 1 and in Alberta at the latter date.

The long cold winters, with considerable snow combined with a shortage of feed in many parts of the west, have made it somewhat hard on stock with a likelihood of thin cattle this spring.

Basing their optimism largely on the fact that few springs have started yet with as much moisture in the land as last year, farmers are looking forward to a good crop year. In practically all the districts throughout the west there should be sufficient moisture to carry the crop until the beginning of June.

The estimate of acreage prepared by Canadian Pacific agents through the Home agricultural society and the Kiwanis club of that town are also along on putting their combined strength behind a drive to make the Hanna district solid for the wheat pool. In scores of other centres in Alberta the same feeling is manifest. The majority of the townspeople are lined up with the farmers in the latter's determination to handle and merchandise their own wheat.

Alberta wheat pool directors have decided that the 6 per cent interest accumulating on elevator reserve accounts, should be paid out to the members in all cases where it amounts to $1.00 or over. Payment of this interest from August 31, 1925 to August 31, 1926, on deductions made from the 1924 crop, will, therefore, be made about the end of May, and mean a total distribution of about $20,000. Amounts under $1.00 will simply be added to the members' accounts and carried forward to the following year.

The lease of the Vancouver terminal elevator No. 2, by the Alberta wheat pool has been finally signed and the pool takes over the terminal on August 1. The rental for the first year is $100,000 and will be slightly higher for succeeding years.

Speakers from Alberta will occupy places of honor and importance at the International wheat pool conference at Kansas City, Missouri, on May 5, 6 and 7. H. W. Wood, chairman of the board of directors of the Alberta pool, will deliver a public address on the afternoon of the first day, and Premier J. E. Brownlee will deliver an address at the banquet that evening.

against 3,015,486 acres, an increase of 41.3 per cent. The total for the three western provinces is: 15,374,882 acres as against 3,853,571 acres last year, an increase of 10.9 per cent.

Winter wheat and rye, from present indications, have come through the winter satisfactorily. Both these crops show an increased acreage over 1926, the totals for the three provinces being: wheat 48,000 acres, rye 635,000 acres; as against 30,000 acres of wheat in 1926 and 525,550 acres of rye.

Importation of seed will be necessary in many districts, principally in Saskatchewan and Alberta, due not so much to the fact that there was any particular shortage, but some of the grain, particularly oats, suffered through exposure to wet weather last fall, with consequent deterioration.

It is not thought, however, that farmers will take chances, as much publicity was given to the necessity of sowing good seed, particularly by the special seed grain trains on which lectures demonstrated to farmers the urgency of determining the vitality of any seed before putting it into the ground.

WHEAT POOL NOTES

Hanna townspeople and Hanna farmers are planning a united drive to put over an one hundred per cent sign-up of the new wheat pool contracts, according to information received at the pool head office. The Hanna agricultural society and the Kiwanis club of that town are also along on putting their combined strength behind a drive to make the Hanna district solid for the wheat pool. In scores of other centres in Alberta the same feeling is manifest. The majority of the townspeople are lined up with the farmers in the latter's determination to handle and merchandise their own wheat.

Alberta wheat pool directors have decided that the 6 per cent interest accumulating on elevator reserve accounts, should be paid out to the members in all cases where it amounts to $1.00 or over. DURANT DECIDES TO LOWER PRICES ON STAR AUTOS

CANADIAN COMPANY TAKES FURTHER STEPS TO MEET THE KEENEST COMPETITION

Durant of Canada production in 1927 will be 15,000 passenger cars and several hundred commercial vehicles. Beginning February 1, 1927, have been employed at the Leaside plant and as many as 600 will be employed in the month of spring and early summer production.

Durant expects more severe competition in Canada in 1927 than ever before. To meeting this competition the management has already determined:

1. To reduce the price of cars to the motorist.
2. To maintain the good quality of the product which has won the confidence of dealers and owners.
3. To introduce commercial vehicles on the market in the form of trucks up to 1½ ton capacity.
4. To continue a policy of co-operation with the dealer in order to maintain his loyalty to the organization.

Dealers gathered in Toronto recently and heard these announcements from Roy D. Kirby, general manager of Durant of Canada. Mr. Kirby stressed that the strength of the company lay in that fact that its dealer organization was loyal and hard-working as well as extensive and he promised that the company would go the second mile in order to help the dealer and, through him, to help the customer and profitable relations with the public.

The reduction in the price of the cars will reduce the net income, it is anticipated, by a considerable amount, unless sales are increased proportionately and economies in manufacture effected by maintaining a high rate of production. Mr. Kirby promised that there would be no diminution in the quality of the vehicles.

Entrance of Durant of Canada into the commercial vehicle field opens a new source of profit for the organization. The trucks to be built will be of the speed-wagon type and will be able to attain a speed of 50 miles an hour.

The export market for passenger cars is developing nicely. The cars are proving especially popular in Australia. This business had its inception last August and from then until the end of December, 2,500 cars were sent overseas. The management estimates that the 1927 export business will total at least 5,000 cars. The management of the parent company in the United States is co-operating with Durant of Canada in developing the export market in the British dominions.

It is expected that at least 10,000 new cars will be marketed in Canada in 1927. The Star six-cylinder car will be more extensively advertised than last season and the company anticipates that it will win a great popularity among motorists. It is asserted that the six has demonstrated its quality and reliability.

The highest spirit of confidence exists between the Canadian management and the management of the parent company. Durant of Delaware, of which W. C. Durant is president, the Canadian executives are permitted to function without interference from the other side of the line but the Canadian company at all times is able to take advantage of the close connection between the two.

There are still 11,000 individual shareholders of the Canadian company. While to all intents and purposes, Durant of Delaware, with an ownership of 40 per cent of the stock of the Canadian company can exercise control, the theoretical control continues in the hands of the Canadian investors who adopted the voting policy and refrained from having their shares transferred to shares in the Durant company of Delaware. It is definitely decided that no dividend will be paid on the Canadian shares this year. There is ample cash in the treasury for the purpose, but the directors have concluded that it is to the interest of the shareholders that the company build up a substantial reserve before there is a distribution of profits.

Durant of Canada is unique among automobile companies, also in that many of its dealers also are shareholders.

Nevertheless, however, every up-to-date wheat elevating establishment is equipped with small experimental flour mills and bake-ovens, by which new wheats are put through a rigorous practical test before being released to the public.

The high average quality of wheat grown in the prairie provinces is due to the use of good varieties and to our favorable climatic conditions. The best quality of wheat is produced in a continental climate, characterized by hot days and cool nights, leading to rapid growth and a short ripening season. A maritime climate, with a cooler, more even temperature, and possibly more moisture, causes lengthening of the growing and ripening season, and may lead to a larger yield but always to a poorer quality of grain. Any departure of our own seasonal conditions from the normal is always reflected in the quality of the kernels.

In speaking of the effect of climate on wheat quality, however, we must not forget that the climate acts on a plant principally through the soil. Light, it is true, acts directly on the plant, and temperature also has a direct effect on growth. But an equally important function of temperature is to co-operate with moisture in the soil, in governing the activities of the innumerable micro-organisms that are present there. These are the things which determine very largely the composition of the soil solution, the liquid food which the plant absorbs. The concentration of one particular constituent in the soil solution, namely nitrates, is perhaps more important than any other factor in determining the quality of wheat produced. So when we say that our climate favors a high quality wheat, we really mean that our climate favors the abundant development of nitrates in the soil during the period when the wheat kernels are being formed.

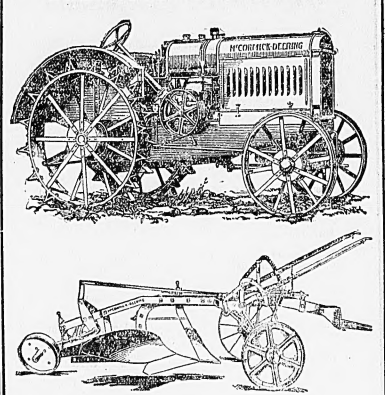

But when we speak of the high average quality of the wheat produced in the prairie provinces, it is not to be understood that within the bounds of this area the quality is uniformly good. On the contrary, it varies so widely from point to point that the milling companies have, for their own use, made charts of these provinces, based upon the value of the wheat produced in different districts.

Because of this variation, we began at the University of Alberta, three years ago, an experiment in co-operation with the Dominion branch, experimental farms throughout this province. Our purpose was to investigate the quality of wheat produced in various districts, and the special adaptation of particular wheat varieties. Perhaps eventually we shall be able to indicate certain varieties as specially adapted to districts now regarded as poor, the use of which could be expected to bring up the general quality of wheat produced in such districts.

There are a great many problems needing investigation in regard to the quality of wheat. We have made this beginning at the University on one or two of the phases which seemed of greatest practical importance. Wheat-growing is our greatest industry, and as we all very well know,

Alberta Forage Crop Cars Conclude Tour

The forage crop and poultry cars which were operated in Alberta by the Canadian National Railway, in conjunction with the Alberta department of agriculture have concluded their itinerary. Twenty places were visited and the movement was confined to districts in which the western wheat-stem sawfly is now ravaging crops in which the fertility of the soil, the continuous grain growing, is rapidly becoming depleted. Where soil impoverishment is found, the inclusion of forage crops in the farming rotation will add fibre and increase the soil content of available plant food, and as sweet clover and the broad leaved forage crops are immune from attacks of wheat-stem sawfly, the growing of such crops will play an active part in controlling and eliminating this pest.

At each point lectures on the value of forage crops in the farm rotation, and their relation to the keeping of livestock were delivered. Interest was keen and many questions on cultural methods were asked.

A lecturer on poultry gave talks on the fundamental principles necessary for the successful care and management of the farm flock. Much interest was shown by farmers in this phase of farming, which indicates they are rapidly becoming appreciative of the value of including side lines in their farming activities. Many farmers took the opportunity of communicating the poultry lecturer to secure supplies of hatching eggs and day old chicks.

Take heart. The same prophet who declared the past winter was to be the toughest on record, also predicted that 1927 would have no summer.

HILLSIDE

The postponed meeting of the Junior U.P.A. was held on Wednesday evening. The usual business was transacted and a new member signed up. Miss Beth Howes was elected delegate to the "Young People's Farm Week" in Edmonton.

The U.F.W.A. members are reminded of the change in their meeting day next month, which is Friday, May 6. Mrs. Christie of Strathcona is expected to be present and address the meeting, which will be held at the home of Mrs. H. G. Young.

Miss Beth Howes has returned to Camrose after spending the Easter vacation at home.

Master James Hoskins, who spent the Easter holidays with his grandparents in Edmonton, returned home Saturday.

A little daughter has come to make her home with Mr. and Mrs. J. G. Holt. The school house girl received a coat of oil during the holidays.

L. E. Marr was a Wetaskiwin visitor on Saturday.

Owing to the bad state of the roads, no Sunday service was held at Hillside. Sunday school was held as usual.

T. H. Howes has disposed of a number of his large milking cows to a buyer from Edmonton. This speaks well for Hillside, as Mr. Howes has one of the best dairy herds in the district.

Mr. Mills, the R.O.P. inspector, is in the district this week.

How To Choose a Tennis Racket:

In picking out a tennis racket consider two things: the quality of the materials and workmanship, and the balance.

The wood of the frame and the throat should be straight-grained and absolutely without flaw. The gut should be clear and, preferably, of small size. Any roughness in the gut is a sign of weakness. Red dye weakens the gut.

Do not choose too heavy a racket. For most persons competing on the best court, but for girls and young boys it should be about thirteen ounces. A large handle tries the hand less than a small one, and improves the balance.

When you choose your racket, swing it as you wish in the tennis stroke.

A racket too heavy in the hand will make your net play slow and all your strokes uncertain.

Mr. Fred Thompson, District Deputy Grand Master, I.O.O.F., opened his itinerary by visiting his own lodge on Wednesday last week. Refreshments were served and a pleasant hour spent at the close of the regular meeting. Mr. Thompson visited Wetaskiwin lodge on Monday evening accompanied by several of the local members.

Here and There

Of the 225,000,000 acres of land sown to produce the 1926-27 wheat crop of the world, Canada sowed about 10 per cent.

Alberta, formerly 100 per cent. straight wheat farming country, has changed radically in this respect in the last fifteen years. The wheat yield of 1926 represented only 45 per cent. of the value of the agricultural products, which totaled $264,000,000 for the year, the greatest in the history of the province.

The flow of settlers into western Canada for 1927 commenced in earnest recently when two special Canadian Pacific trains brought over 400 persons into Winnipeg. About 200 of the new arrivals were destined for Manitoba; 100 to Saskatchewan, while Alberta and British Columbia absorbed the rest about equally.

The value of building and construction contracts awarded in Canada in 1926 was $372,947,000, compared with $297,973,000 in 1925, an increase of 25 per cent. Last year's total was the highest for several years. Development in the mining, power and paper industries in Canada was an important factor contributing to the activity in building during the past year.

When the Canadian Pacific steamship Montreal docked recently at New York, after her first cruise to the West Indies in the year, she resembled a floating menagerie, for there were assembled on board over 200 live birds, parrots and monkeys. These pets were brought by passengers on the cruise. During the month's cruise the vessel touched at fourteen ocean ports and visited thirteen countries.

Sweeping reduction in the rates of electricity to all sorts of consumers has been announced by the leading electrical company in New Brunswick. The new rates are being filed with the New Brunswick Board of Public Utilities. Under the new schedule of rates the household will be able to secure electricity for as low as 3 cents a kilowatt hour, the same rates applying to stores and offices.

Good seed cars, under the joint directors of the Manitoba Department of Agriculture, the Dominion Seed Branch and the Manitoba Agricultural College, in conjunction with the Canadian Pacific Railway, are touring the province. The train consists of a lecture car, a baggage car with types of all modern farming mills and other machines; a horticultural car which is the first to be operated in Canada. Lectures and demonstrations are given at each stop.

Emile St. Godard, youthful Manitoba dog musher from The Pas, carried off the honors in the Eastern International 120-mile dog derby at Quebec recently. St. Godard's time for the three-day race was 11 hours and 37 minutes, over 54 minutes faster than the previous record for the game event. He rode out Leonhard Sepalla, hero of the Nome, Alaska, serum race by 20 minutes and 20 seconds. George Chevrolet took third place, while "Paddy" Nolan, 15-year-old musher, maintained fourth place throughout the race.

Peking, China.—Over 400 passengers aboard the Canadian Pacific Empress of Scotland, now on a tour of the world, the largest number of foreigners, except the military, ever to invade the city, were admitted recently to the Forbidden City for the first time since the young Emperor of China evacuated it, when he was driven out to Tientsin, two years ago. The Manchuria War Lord Marshal Chang Tso Lin accorded safe conveyance to the party and every courtesy was shown to the visitors in their tour through a city which so far has been rigorously shut off from intercourse with the western world.

Locusts are still a sore plague in the East. A swarm of them swept through the Bombay Presidency recently which consisted of three armies, one of which was twenty miles long and thirty yards wide. Another army, which hovered for a time near Gujarat, was five miles long, half a mile wide and two feet thick. Such a visitation is simply ruin to the territory visited.

San Fernando is a city of 7200 in Los Angeles county, is situated in a very progressive fruit growing area, oranges, lemons, avocados and other fruits growing in abundance, while many successful nurseries and truck gardens are carried on in this, the first community established in the valley.

Last year 20,400 persons were killed in motor accidents and $68,000,000 injured. The United States accounted for most of these accidents, having four-fifths of the total. England came next with 968 fatal accidents, France followed with 725, and Canada was a close fourth with 702. We all appreciate the auto, but this is truly a fearful record.

TWO PRAYERS

Two men went into the temple to pray. Once on a time (and yesterday!) One said his prayers in the usual way. But the other man knew no prayers to say.

So he talked to God as a friend.

And the Lord, who knew from beginning to end

The forms the first man had heard so long.

Was sure that today they would not go wrong.

So He turned His ear and inclined His heart

To the man with whom praying was not an art.

But who talked with Him as a friend.

—Mary Foot Lodi

JUST ONE FAULT

I have a car.

It never breaks down.

It never skids.

It never gets a puncture.

It never gives me bother up steep gradients.

It never gets overheated.

It has never got me into a collision or an accident of any kind since I got it.

I wish to goodness I could start it!

A wild tribe, lost for seven centuries in the Japanese hills, has just been found. It will spend the next six months learning traffic rules and how to fill out a tax return.

Tongue Coated

Bad Taste in Mouth

Dizzy Spells

When your liver becomes sluggish and inactive your whole health suffers. Your bowels become constipated, the tongue coated, the breath foul and you get bilious and dizzy spells.

Keep your liver active and working properly by using

Milburn's LAXATIVE PILLS

Miss Emma McMahon, Vernon, Ont., writes:—"I was troubled for about two years with my liver, and when I would get up in the morning my tongue would be coated and I had a bad taste in my mouth; would take dizzy spells, become faint and get sick to my stomach."

A friend advised me to use Milburn's Laxative Pills so I got four vials of them and when I had finished the last I can truthfully say they did me good."

HISTORIC RETORTS

There is a dramatic interest that belongs to quick replies. Flashes of resourcefulness in emergencies are always arresting, and especially so when seasoned with humor. The richest source of stories of striking answers is perhaps public life, partly because there are more people to hear and report them, partly because great personages, places or events with which we are already familiar, are themselves helps to keep the newly-heard anecdote permanently remembered. From this mine, let us gather a few gems.

On a public occasion at the Court of St. James, the Duke of Wellington met a French marshal who was making a short visit to England. The Frenchman promptly turned his back. The bystanders were beginning to remonstrate with the Duke for not reproving the affront. "Not at all," was the reply. "I taught him that myself at Waterloo."

PREVENT FOREST FIRES

1867 1927

For Sixty Years

THE FOREST has played a major part in Canada's development. The stability of our forest industries is threatened by forest fires which have destroyed five times the quantity of timber used. Carelessness with fire in the woods has been mainly responsible. Will YOU help to stop this wanton waste and ensure Canada's continuing prosperity?

NATHANIEL HAWTHORNE'S "The Scarlet Letter"

W. C. T. U.

The Prohibition Federation of Canada, which is the one Dominion organization federating all the provincial organizations, the various temperance societies, and social service committees of the several churches recently held their annual meeting in Toronto with a large attendance of delegates from all the provinces. The Federation will cooperate with the provincial organizations in an extended educational campaign, not only by public addresses, but by the bulletin and the use of the daily and weekly press. Attention is being given to the preparation of temperance literature for those residing in Canada who do not speak English.

The Nova Scotia Social Service Council met in Truro last week. Addresses were given by Rev. Dr. Charles McKinnon on "Why We Need Prohibition" and by E. J. Donaldson, M.A., rector of Trinity church, Halifax. "The Myth of Government Control," and by G. C. Nowlan, barrister, on "The Failure of Government Sale."

At a recent convention of Baptist churches in Moncton, N.B., it was urged on all churches to undertake some form of definite and persistent temperance education.

The temperance forces of Ontario are not discouraged by the election of last December, which involved other issues than "Prohibition versus Government Control." They are taking steps to regain lost ground.

The history of prohibition in the U.S. may furnish an illustration of future conditions in Canada. Prohibition in 1855 twelve states were under prohibition. After the war, eleven reverted to license. The state of Maine stood firm and following Maine from year to year, state after state adopted prohibition until the whole republic outlawed the liquor traffic in 1916. History may repeat itself and Nova Scotia be called to stand for the influence that has been lost throughout the Dominion.
